REV. DR. MANGUM TO WORK IN LARGER FIELD.

At a meeting of the board of officers of the Baptist church Saturday, Rev. Dr. O. R. Mangum, pastor of the church, tendered his resignation, to become effective on August first, when he will go to Henderson, where he has accepted a call which will place him in a larger field.

Dr. Mangum's resignation was reported to the congregation at the morning service, and was reluctantly accepted by them. Dr. Mangum has been in charge of the Baptist congregation at this place for the past four years, during which time he has shown himself possessed not only of those qualities which are so desirable in a ministerial way, but of that most essential one, executive ability. During his pastorate of four years the membership has been increased by 272 additions, making it now a total of 492; the indebtedness of $4,000 on the church building has been paid off; a Baptist Young Peoples Union organized and placed on a safe working basis; the Sunday school has increased to three times its original number, and the church has been put upon a budget system which has enabled it to furnish a greater per cent. to the missions and benevolences of the church.

CATHOLIC LADIES ENTERTAIN.

The sum of $50 has been added to the Red Cross fund through the medium of the entertainment given recently by the ladies of the Catholic church, at their hall on High street.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion in flags, patriotic colors and summer flowers. Music for the occasion was furnished by a local orchestra and a chorus of young girls, contributing a program of patriotic and popular airs. Misses Jessit May Fee and Irene Lenihan accompanied by Miss Winifred Doyle at the piano, rendered vocal solos; Miss Louise Connell rendered a piano solo; Miss Elizabeth Bean gave two recitations, followed by a dialogue, "Three Good Friends," by Misses Soule Smith, Margerite Doyle, Elizabeth Dean and Anna Gorey.

ENGINEERS SURVEYING FOR NEW DAM.

Louisville & Nashville civil engineers were engaged yesterday making surveys and soundings near the old mill dam at the plant of the Paris Milling Company.

The engineers took measurements of the old dam and its approaches, and made deep soundings in the mill pool below the dam.

These surveys and measurements will form a basis for estimates for building a new concrete dam to replace the present structure.

NEW Y. M. C. A. SEC.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bourbon County Y. M. C. A. held in the Association building last week Mr. J. C. Wilcox, of Orange county, New York, was recommended to succeed Mr. C. O. Hinton, resigned, as Secretary of the institution. Mr. Wilcox was placed in nomination before the Board by Mr. P. C. Dix, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who had been here in consultation regarding the selection of Mr. Hinton's successor.

Mr. Hinton's resignation becomes effective at his pleasure either on August 1 or September 1.

Mr. Henry A. Peale Collier were appointed a committee to investigate the chances of Paris securing one of the training camps for the soldiers who will be brought into the service in response to the drafting provisions of the President's proclamation. There are several ideal sites for the location of such a camp around Paris.

J. C. ELGIN ACCEPTS TRAVELING POSITION.

Mr. Jeff. C. Elgin, who has been associated for several years with the Prichard & Ball Garage and later with the successors of that firm, the C. S. Ball Garage, left yesterday for Cleveland, Ohio, where he will take a position with the International Harvester Company.

Mr. Elgin, who is one of the best-posted men in this section in the agricultural implement and automobile lines, will take a traveling position for the International Harvester people, and will have the Southwest for his principal territory. Jeff is a fine fellow and his Paris friends wish him unlimited success as a "disseminating angel of commerce."

GEO. W. MORROW STRICKEN.

Mr. George W. Morrow, of the Clintonville precinct, while mingling with the Court Day crowd on Main street yesterday, was suddenly stricken with illness and was for a time thought to be in a serious condition. He was given prompt medical attention, and later removed to his home in an automobile. Last night he was reported as resting easy.

LET JUSTICE BE DONE THOUGH HEAVENS FALL.

While THE NEWS has a personal preference as to the choice of a Secretary to succeed Mr. C. O. Hinton in the conduct of office affairs at the local Y. M. C. A., we desire to say that we hope the Board of Directors will reconsider their action in appointing an outsider to hold that responsible place. We believe Mr. Dennis V. Snapp, of Paris, to be the best suited for the place, and we have no hesitancy in saying that a home man should have been appointed to an institution maintained by the money contributed by Paris and Bourbon county people.

THE NEWS is in receipt of a communication from a Paris man, regarding the matter, which we reprint below as a contributed article:

PARIS, KY., July 2, 1917.

"ED. NEWS:

"The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. at a called meeting Thursday afternoon considered Mr. J. C. Wilcox, of Orange County, N. Y., for the local Y. M. C. A. secretaryship to succeed Mr. C. O. Hinton, who recently resigned. The name of Mr. Dennis V. Snapp, of Paris, who is thought by many people in the county to be the logical man for the place, was not considered.

"The Y. M. C. A. is a local institution; it is financed by the people of Bourbon County, and is intended as a benefit to this locality. If our money keeps up this institution, why should not one of our citizens be given any benefit which may be derived from it, instead of a man from New York, who has no interest in Bourbon County, other than mercenary? Mr. Wilcox may be a good Christian gentleman, and a capable man for the place, but the writer is of the opinion that there are just as capable, just as intelligent and just as Christian men in Bourbon County as in any county of any State in the Union.

"Mr. Wilcox was recommended by the State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Mr. P. C. Dix, and is no doubt a well-qualified man for the place. But haven't the people of Bourbon county a right to recommend a man for an office which is kept up by their donations? If they have not democracy is a dead letter.

"Mr. Snapp is a conscientious and religious young man. He is prominent in church circles and has had considerable experience which would be valuable to him in this work. Only last week he was elected president of the State Epworth League Conference by a unanimous vote. Does not this give evidence of his ability? If people of other counties honor Mr. Snapp with offices of trust, why should not Bourbon county, his birthplace and place of residence all his life, not do likewise? Truly, a prophet is not without honor save in his own country.

"Mr. Wilcox's election has not yet been made; he has only been nominated, the writer believes that after the Board of Directors has considered Mr. Snapp, he will be given his just dues."

WARDEN THOMAS ARRESTS GAME LAW VIOLATORS.

Game Warden Doug Thomas on Friday afternoon arrested Harvey Johnson and Bryan Hash, both living near Paris, on a warrant charging them with violations of the game laws. Warden Thomas caught the men in the woods shooting squirrels.

They were taken before Judge C. McMillan Saturday morning, where, upon entering pleas of guilty, they were fined $15 and costs each.

It doesn't pay to wilfully and wantonly violate the game laws now, because the men are watching to prevent it and to prosecute offenders.

JAS. S. WILSON & BRO.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

While playing with an army Springfield rifle at a house in Sidville, a colored village between Paris and Clintonville, Saturday morning, Charley Williams, a sixteen-year-old colored boy, was shot in the left arm by the accidental discharge of the weapon, which was in the hands of another colored boy, his cousin, named Sim Johnson, aged fourteen. It was another case of "didn't know it was loaded."

The bullet entered Wilson's arm, shattering the bone, passing through the flesh through his side, making a slight wound. The two boys were alone at the Johnson's home, and in a friendly scuffle for the possession of the weapon, Wilson received his wound. Amputation of the member may become necessary.

PARIS CHAUTAUQUA HAS AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

They were all there, or as many as the big tent would hold, to greet the opening feature of the opening day at the Paris Chautauqua yesterday. "The Peerless One," William J. Bryan, three-time candidate for President of the United States, at present a Chautauquan by profession and financial perquisites. Mr. Bryan was introduced by one of our most prominent citizens, Mr. W. O. Hinton, who paid a very high tribute to the speaker.

Mr. Bryan has lost nothing of his hold on the general public. He spoke yesterday in the interest of the Democratic Forward League, taking for his subject, "Fundamentals." He held the attention of his hearers from beginning to end with a characteristic Bryanesque oration, full of eloquence, and strong convincing arguments.

Mr. Bryan was followed on the program by the Square Entertainers, a musical organization of superior merit, far above the ordinary class of such attractions, who rendered a delightful musical program, giving an afternoon of versatility. At night there was a large attendance again in the big tent on the High School campus, to hear the Castle Square Entertainers, and Mr. Ernest J. Sias, in a program full of interest.

The program for to-day will be: Afternoon, Elma B. Smith, Judge Lee S. Estille; Night, Elma B. Smith, Dr. G. L. Herbert.

From the many expressions of opinion we have heard the majority of our people are waiting for the musical numbers, which will be perhaps the most pleasing features of an excellent program.

"THE SNIPPERS."

Contributions of scraps of clean cotton materials, white or colored, are desired by the members of the Junior Red Cross auxiliary, "The Snippers," for the purpose of cutting into tiny pieces for filling fracture pillows. It is earnestly requested that anyone having these scraps will leave them at the sewing room of the Red Cross, in the Wilson Building, at the corner of Main and Third streets. The class, which is in charge of Miss Carolyn Roseberry and Mrs. Powell Bosworth, now number thirty-three, but more are needed. Girls between the ages of eight and fourteen are asked to join the organization and become a "Snipper." The only implement of warfare they are required to furnish is a pair of sharp scissors that will "snip." Hence "the Snippers."

FORMER PARIS MAN STRIKES OIL THE PONY AND THE HAT—A COMEDY.

About four weeks ago one of the most valued employees of the Paris Gas & Electric Company was Mr. John C. Dowd, who was making his home here. Mr. Dowd, after leaving Paris, went to Irvine and several other places in the now valuable oil fields in that favored region.

After prospecting in different localities Mr. Dowd finally leased a large body of land near Pilot, in Estill county, which he worked with a view of becoming a multi-millionaire. Drilling had been in progress for some time, and patience and faith were finally rewarded last Thursday by a spouter which has since been producing a daily output of twenty-five barrels of the kind of stuff that made John D. Rockefeller a little bit wealthier than some other Americans.

GETS DRAFT FOR PAYMENT OF JUDGMENT.

The receipt of a draft for $26,778.45 from the Louisville & Nashville railroad company by Mr. Harry Mitchell, of this city, marks the closing chapter in a case that attracted a great deal of attention in this city and county. Mr. Mitchell sued the L. & N. for $25,000 damages alleged to have been sustained in an accident which happened in the railroad company's yard in this city some years ago. The case went from one court to another until final judgment was passed in the recent action of the Court of Appeals.

As a result Mr. Mitchell was paid the sum of $26,778.45, being a settlement in full for the judgment with interest and the penalties accruing since the judgment was secured.

SPRAINED ANKLES LAY UP TWO PARIS MEN.

As a result of falls two Paris men are laid up with sprained ankles. While endeavoring to swing on to a freight car in the South Paris yards Saturday night, Mr. Adam Davis, formerly of the Stout Cafe, missed his hold, and was dragged along the ties for a distance of several yards. He sustained a sprained ankle. Mr. Davis was removed to the Massie Memorial Hospital, where he was made comfortable.

While wheeling his grandchild at his home on Harmon Avenue, Sunday morning Mr. John R. Owens, of THE NEWS force, slipped on a rock, spraining his ankle. Mr. Owens is confined to his home as a result of the accident.

THE PONY AND THE HAT—A COMEDY.

A befowered hat, an inquisitive pony and a low hanging shrub furnished the leading parts in a little comedy which recently was enacted on the banks of Stoner Creek, in the rear of the old Paris Base Ball Park.

A number of ladies who had discovered the existence of a nice little, shady little, sandy little bathing beach in the rear of the old ball park, had been in the habit of paying daily visits to the cooling waters. It was ideal spot, just fitted by nature and circumstances for the part it has been playing.

One day last week a party of young ladies accompanied Mrs. N. A. Moore to the bathing beach, and were soon disporting themselves in the waters. Two of the girls had driven to the spot in a pony cart. Unhitching their pony they took off the harness and let him browse among the succulent grass and the sweet leafy foliage. But soon the animal became tired of this repast, and espying what he evidently thought a nice mess of roses hanging from a low bush near the water, proceeded to calmly devour it.

It was all right for the pony, but when the party came out of the water and began to gather up their belongings Mrs. Moore was horrified to discover only the ragged rim of what had once been a nice big summer hat, trimmed with red roses. The pony didn't have time to apologize for his queer gastronomical feat and Mrs. Moore went home hatless, but glad the pony hadn't discovered some of her other attire that could not have been spared.

CUTS ARTERY IN WRIST WHILE DIVING.

Mr. Bert King, employed at the restaurant of A'Hearn & Burton, at the corner of Pleasant and Tenth streets, met with an unfortunate accident Sunday afternoon. Mr. King, with several companions, had been bathing in Stoner Creek, near the Maysville bridge. In diving from a rope swing Mr. King went too deep, and striking his arm against sharp rock in the bed of the creek, the large artery in his right wrist was severed. He was able to make his way to the surface, and was carried by his companions to the office of the Paris Ice Manufacturing Company, where Dr. J. M. Williams responded to a call for help. Mr. King's injuries were attended to and he was removed to his home.

HERALD CHANGES AGENCY.

Owing to the fact that Mr. A. J. Duncan, who has had the agency for the Lexington Herald in Paris, desiring to make a change, the agency has been transferred to the Hotel Fordham, where the paper will in the future be found on sale. Deliveries will be made to the regular subscribers as usual by carriers.

The Herald now reaches Paris readers before breakfast, being sent to Winchester by auto, where the papers are transferred to the fast train on the L. & N. reaching Paris at 5:25 a. m. Heretofore on account of the curtailment of train service on the L. & N. which resulted in taking off the early morning train from Lexington to Paris the papers did not reach here until eight a. m.

REPORT UNFOUNDED.

Unscrupulous persons have been busily circulating the report on the streets of Paris that I have withdrawn, or have been contemplating withdrawing, from the race of Police Judge of Paris.

I desire to state to the voters of the city that I am still in this race and will be in it until put down or out. I am in it to win, if possible, and I am confident that I can hold my own with any of the candidates now in the field. I do not know who started the report, but it is very evident to my mind that it must have been an interested party, but this is notice to them that I am on their trail.

HARRY MITCHELL.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE AND BANKS CLOSED TO-MORROW.

In conformance with the provisions of the postal laws and regulations the local postoffice will be closed tomorrow, July 4, in all the departments. The delivery window will be open from 11:30 to 12:30 to accommodate patrons of the office. The money order, registry and other departments will be closed. There will be but one delivery of mail in the business section, and but one collection of mail throughout the day. There will be no delivery on the rural routes, but the carriers will be at the windows to deliver mail to patrons who call for same. Patrons of the office are requested to transact their business at the stamp and general delivery windows as quickly as possible on account of the limited time those departments will be open. The banks will also be closed tomorrow.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP.

Three pistol shots and the wild scurrying of feet in the vicinity of Pleasant and Ninth streets at an early hour Sunday morning broke the slumbers of the citizens in that neighborhood.

An investigation by several who had been rudely awakened from their slumbers developed the fact that Patrolman King was behind the gun and a would-be hold-up artist was several yards in front of the artillery, and still going. King answered a S. O. S. call by telephone to the effect that a man was being held up there. He responded and discovered a man whose identity he could not ascertain, trying to go through the pockets of another one, whom he was holding up in true Western style. The officer fired three shots at the "stick-up-man" who beat the shots by several yards in a get-away. The victim of the hold-up also disappeared and neither could be found. The officer was joined by a number of railroad men who had been attracted by the shots, but the chase was abandoned after the men had disappeared.

FLIGHT POSTPONED.

THE NEWS received a message yesterday from Mr. Stanley Young, who is constructing an aeroplane at his home near North Middletown, to the effect that he will be unable to make a trial flight with his machine Wednesday, the day scheduled for that interesting event, owing to various reasons. Mr. Young stated that he would be ready in about two weeks, as time would be needed for giving the motors the proper test. He stated that he was confident of his ability to prove his worth, and that he would give the people of Paris and the county an opportunity to witness the flight in about two weeks.

PARIS GIRL WINS BUICK TOURING CAR.

Some months ago the Rhodes Automobile Club, of Topeka, Kansas, inaugurated an automobile contest, which was participated in by people all over the country. Among the contestants was Miss Verna Turpin, daughter of Mrs. S. M. Turpin, of this city.

A few days ago Miss Turpin received notice from the Rhodes Club to the effect that she had been the successful contestant, and that she had been awarded the first prize contest, a fine Buick touring car. The news came in the shape of a telegram to Miss Turpin. A letter followed, complimenting her on the excellent showing she had made in the contest. Miss Turpin was the leader in another prize contest some months ago.

JULY COURT DAY.

July court day was a mixture of everything, and resembled the celebrated scenes in Donnybrook Fair, where there was everything to be seen, and almost anything to be had. There was a fair-sized crowd on the streets, but little seemed to be going on in a business way. The farmers talked politics, crops and war, and many went to hear William J. Bryan at the Chautauqua. An itinerant preacher harranged a small audience on the public square, while in the court house yard the soldiers on guard here amused themselves with gymnastic and setting-up exercises. A parade by the Boy Scouts contributed to the general gaiety of the afternoon. The farmers were too busy with the conversation of crops to come to town—and then it was the regular six-months' collection time for the merchants, which always cuts down the attendance at July court.

EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

Taxing the Newspapers.

This country cannot win the war without the aid of the newspapers. In the first place, if it had not been for the newspapers the Liberty Loan would not have been raised in a hundred years. In the next place, if the newspapers of the forty-eight States, all the dailies and the weeklies and the semi-weeklies and the tri-weeklies, and papers of all kinds, had refused to print a line about the Red Cross, that organization would not have secured the magnificent donation of $100,000,000 within the life of any man or woman living.

And yet there is in Congress today a bunch of little men unpatriotic enough to seek the death of thousands of newspapers by the taxation route, just as a similar bunch taxed the banknote circulation of State banks to death during the Civil War.

If there is a newspaper in Bourbon county or any of the counties surrounding, that is growing rich just now we failed to find out where it is and along this line we claim to fairly well posted. If there is a newspaper owner in Bourbon or any of the surrounding counties making even a fair per cent. of interest on the money he has invested, he is keeping it awfully quiet. And yet there sits in Washington that little bunch of misguided and malicious misrepresentatives of the people seeking to tax out of existence at least ninety per cent. of the newspapers of this country.

At the present price of white paper the more copies a paper prints the worse off it is. The advance of all materials has been as great, if not greater than in any other line of business. It's a struggle just now, the hardest ever known for any newspaper to do more than break even, and yet they go along without grumbling, and many of them, like THE NEWS, without raising their prices to conform with the cost of that which goes into their making. If the little bunch in Congress wants America to lose the war all they need to do is to put the newspapers out of business. The English and French governments have admitted freely that most of their successes have come from the generous and loyal support of the newspapers—is America going on record as striving to hamper the greatest agency for good the Government can have?

The Day's Happy Thought—When it came to selling Bourbon county's share of the Liberty Loan bonds, and when it came to raising that $15,000 part of the National Red Cross fund you didn't see any Chicago mail order house or house-to-house soap peddlers dropping anything in the hat, did you?

Soldiers of Humanity.

While there is going to be sadness in our hearts when the Paris and Bourbon county boys march away to the war, it is going to be different from the sadness felt when some of the soldiers answer the call.

When the American soldier goes to war those he leaves behind know that wherever he goes the women and children are safe. That is a consolation. We can go about our work for humanity here at home with a lighter heart when we know that the word "atrocity" is no part of the American soldier's vocabulary. We hope for him and we pray for him, but we will never be called upon to face the awful accusation that our Paris and Bourbon county soldiers, our soldiers from all over America, murdered innocent women and children. The American soldier is not a murderer. The American soldier does not ravish and mutilate and maim the mothers and sisters of those against whom they fight.

James Bryce, the historian, and a man whose word is as true as truth itself, tells of seeing, with his own eyes, little children in Belgium whose hands had been cut off at the wrist by the Prussian soldiers. He tells of seeing a Prussian soldier, marching through the streets of a devastated Belgian town, reaching his gun into a crowd of frightened, distracted women and children, and impaling a child of three years upon the bayonet of that gun. We believe James Bryce, as much as we regret to.

Here in Paris and Bourbon county we can thank God that our soldiers do not fight that way. When they march away we can console ourselves, in a measure, that, even should the war be lost, our boys can face their Maker with a clean conscience, and with hands that never wantonly touched or troubled an innocent woman or child.

The Day's Best Thought—The loyal members of the Jimmie Johnson Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, and all such patriotic organizations, should be gratified to know that the world realizes that they also serve who sit at home and sew.

ATTENTION CANDIDATES.

Have you filed your expense account and made proper application to the proper authorities to get your name on the ballot for the coming primary? This can only be done properly by using a Thomas Election Form. The first lot was sold out in a hurry and the second order was for only ten more which will go fast. Get yours today or you may be left. You cannot get on the ballot unless you make proper application.

RURAL CENSUS OF STATE PLANNED BY V. O. GILBERT.

The first complete rural census of Kentucky is planned by State Superintendent V. O. Gilbert, who proposes securing, through the rural schools, a report giving the number of children in each district, their ages, number of illiterates, idiots, the number of acres in all kinds of crops, the number of head of livestock and all other such information as will furnish data for an accurate survey of rural life conditions.

Superintendent Gilbert is confident he can get the work done and is preparing blanks for the teachers. Most of the information can be secured through the children taking blanks home to their parents to fill out. Inspectors will be put in the field wherever there is a lack of co-operation.

The work and its importance will be explained fully to the teachers at the institutes. County Superintendents are being asked to assist.

ENCOURAGEMENT IN RIGHT DOING.

We often wonder why it is that people, if they know any good of their neighbor, seem to think it their duty to keep the fact a secret never to be divulged until their neighbor has passed away and is laid in his grave, and then to be brought to light when it can be of no earthly benefit to him. It is not so with their faults, which all take more or less pleasure in magnifying before the public. Many a man has been driven to the dogs for the want of a little encouragement and a just recognition of his honest efforts to do right, that are not appreciated by his fellowmen. If people would take half the trouble to encourage others in well doing that they do to circulate everything they hear derogatory to them the world would be much better and many a man saved from becoming a criminal. Men whose good deeds are ignored by society and whose slightest fault is continually harped upon and magnified; soon lose all self respect and care nothing for society, because society cares nothing for him, and he continues to do wrong; but if it is no credit to do right, what encouragement have they to do better? One-half of the criminals in our jails and penitentiaries have been made such, in all probability, by the unkindness of their fellowmen, who have always stood ready to condemn every little offense without stopping to inquire into the circumstances that may have caused the party to do wrong. We should put ourselves in our neighbor's place surrounded by the same circumstances, then we would be better able to judge and not have to wait till they are dead before we could say something good about them.

WHOOPIING COUGH.

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. J. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes, "My two daughters had whooping cough. I gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and it worked like a charm."

KOBE HAS WESTERN FLAVOR

Big Bustling Japanese City Seems Proud of Having Occidental Rather Than Oriental Appearance.

When you arrive at the hotel in Kobe the management informs you proudly that they have the biggest dining room between Calcutta and San Francisco. This is a foretaste of a string of disappointments that await the tourist who is in search of the real Japanese flavor. Kobe is a big, bustling prosperous city, but it is proud of being up-to-date and Western rather than being curious and Oriental. The hotel is full of European travelers and business men, the streets are full of people in Western costumes, and on the whole you are likely to decide that you might have stayed in Kansas City.

If you refuse to be disappointed, however, and extend your explorations, you will find that the characteristically Japanese quarters of Kobe are the biggest part of the city and it is still going about its affairs in the Japanese way. Here are the narrow crowded streets, the bounding rickshaw men who pull up and grin good naturedly at each other after averting a fatal collision by a hair's breadth, the rows on rows of little low shops with their big, incomprehensible signs, and the incongruous groves and forests of telegraph poles.

The telegraph and telephone pole today is really more a feature of the Japanese landscape than Fujiyama, the sacred mountain. The modern Japanese fan should show a line of conventionalized telegraph poles disappearing in impossible perspective rather than the cherry blossoms and fan-wielding maidens who belong to a past age. For some reason Japan has proved a fertile soil for the telegraph pole. The wires run underground and apparently more poles are used than there is any necessity for. The poles are the most conspicuous feature of the Kobe landscape.

FOODS THAT CAUSE RICKETS

Disease Is Due to Too Little Animal Fat, Protein and Lime Salts in Dietary, Says Doctor.

"Beware of giving young children too much pasteurized milk, proprietary food, or even cereals, to the exclusion of brown bread and butter, stewed fruit or roasted apple, and a little meat once a day," writes Dr. Beverley Robinson of New York in giving a warning note about rickets in the New York Medical Journal.

He adds that he is "considering especially children two or three years old, who are healthy and vigorous unless rickets develops unawares by reason of faulty dietary." And he quotes the following from Osler:

"Like scurvy, rickets may be found in the families of the wealthy under perfect hygienic conditions. It is most common in children fed on condensed milk, the various proprietary foods, cow's milk and food rich in starches."

Rickets is the cause of knock-knees and bow legs. It is due to too little animal fat and protein in the dietary, together with too little lime salts.

De Soto's Romance.

Fernando De Soto, the Spanish explorer, is associated with much of the early history of this country. He is best remembered as having been the first European to look upon the Mississippi.

At an early age he fell in love with the daughter of his patron, Don Pedro de Avila. To prevent the marriage, De Avila induced De Soto to accompany him to America, where he had been recently appointed governor of Spanish possessions in the western hemisphere. This was in 1519.

In 1527 De Soto served in the expedition to Nicaragua under Fernandez, and in 1528 he withdrew entirely from the service of his patron. In 1537 he returned to Spain and married Isabella, who for more than fifteen years had waited faithfully for him.

Orange Popular in Tropics.

In the tropics the orange is even more appreciated than farther north because of its wonderful thirst-quenching qualities, and the eating of it is a more highly developed art. In the Porto Rican cities oranges are sold on the streets by push-cart merchants for a cent apiece. The vender deftly peels each orange with a sharp knife in such a way that the outer yellow skin is removed and a thin white coating of uniform thickness remains, with a small hole at the top. So treated, the orange may be sucked to the last drop without the least danger that it will break and soil the fingers; but it takes a genuine artist to peel the fruit in the right way.

Professor Boys of England, experimenting with bubbles, obtained some very large ones, which in the sunshine changed colors so beautifully that he conceived the idea of using them as backgrounds for photographs.

The large bubbles were blown with an ordinary bellows, says the Popular Science Monthly. The soap solution was heated and a large-mouthed funnel was dipped into it. The bellows, connecting with the funnel, was then worked very gently. Bubbles with as great a circumference as two and a half feet were easily obtained.

HOW WORLD KEEPS BALANCE

Permanence of Continents Explained by Geologists as Due to Greater Lightness of Rock of Land.

It is a comparatively new theory that explains the permanence of continents, though their surfaces are on the average about three miles higher than the sea bottom, as due to the greater lightness of the rocks of the land. At various periods in geological history the balance thus established has been disturbed by the forcing up or depressing of portions of the earth's crust, and the disturbances seem to have been followed by slow settling or rising to the point of stable equilibrium.

Late researches by the coast and geodetic survey prove satisfactorily that the mountains of the United States at least retain their places through their low density instead of being held up by the rigidity or strength of the earth's materials. The lightest gases rise highest, and are kept above the general level as icebergs rise higher than the denser water in which they float. The differences in the density of continental and suboceanic materials are believed to continue down to a depth of about sixty miles. The normal condition is considered to be that in the large river valleys and under the coastal plains, and the material below sea level is heavier than normal down to sixty miles.

IT FELL IN FIFTH CENTURY

And Shingles Are Still Obtained From Prehistoric Trunk of Red Cedar Tree in Great Northwest.

Shingles are still obtained from the log of a western red cedar tree which fell in a forest of the great Northwest between 13 and 14 centuries ago. The huge trunk lies where it fell, blown over, perhaps by the winds of the fifth century, A. D.

Straddling the log, with its roots in the ground at either side is the great stump, ten feet high, of another tree of the same species, also still sound. The latter tree was evidently felled by woodsmen many years ago. Its annual rings number 1,380, which permits of an awe-inspiring guess at the age of the log which it straddles. This method of growth, by the way, is not an unusual phenomenon. Seeds lying on the surface of the felled trunk were nourished by the wet moss which covered it and sent sprouts down to the ground on either side. It is obvious, therefore, that the log on the ground was of a ripe old age 1,380 years ago when the second tree was taking root.

Since the prone log is hollow its rings cannot be counted. Moss which covered both log and stump and preserved them against decay was evidently burned off in a comparatively recent forest fire. The species of tree described furnishes more shingles than any other tree in the world—the famous western cedar shingles, known in every market in the country.

Home-Making Robins.

Late in March, or early in April, the robin returns. We may see him hopping around on our lawns, or perhaps we may hear him first. He has a clear, cheerful voice, but does not sing his most joyous songs until his mate returns from the South, about a week later. Together they build the nest, or remodel one that they have occupied for several seasons. In the latter case the old leaves are cleared out, and a few crooked sticks added to the clumsy looking mass. Then it is ready for the mudcup that will make it firm, solid and safe. The mother bird brings the mud, and uses her breast as a mason does his trowel, to shape, smooth and press it into shape. She is a very dirty bird when she has finished, but soon makes herself clean and neat again. When lined with grass, moss and feathers the nest is quite comfortable.

Silent Alarm Clock.

"The alarm clock as a social problem" might be the thesis of the inventor who has devised a new form of this indispensable but unpopular instrument. Realizing that the prolonged peal of a lousy bell at 5 a. m. may cause considerable inconvenience to next-door neighbors in apartment houses and dormitories, he has devised a silent alarm which awakens the sleeper by a strong light instead of a loud noise. When the clock reached the moment set on the dial, instead of releasing the spring of a bell, it throws in the switch of an electric bull's-eye lantern, so directed that it floods the pillow with its glare. It is claimed that this method is as effective as the bell in awakening the sleeper in question, and less effective in awakening neighbors and roommates.

Numerals Copied From Our Fingers. That the fingers of the hand held up or counted off was the beginning of arithmetic and of our system of numbers is the belief of Dr. George M. Gould.

Proof that the fingers were used as designators of numbers, according to Doctor Gould, comes directly from the Roman numerals. One finger was the origin of figure I, the second equaling II, the third III and the fourth IIII. The V was the fork which was made by the thumb stuck up opposite the first finger.

Too Honest.

"He's altogether too honest. I'm through with him."
"Too honest, Mabel!"
"Yes. He wouldn't even steal a kiss."

It Spurs Men to Energetic Efforts

"I use the Long Distance Telephone constantly. It speeds up my business and spurs the other men to action because they are brought face to face with me."

"The cost is nothing as compared to the effective results. One telephone message accomplishes more than five letters for me and both customers and salesmen feel as though they have paid a personal visit to the office."

"We have adopted the practice of calling delinquent customers on the Long Distance Telephone. It's more effective than a letter or visit from a salesman. We have improved our collections wonderfully by a judicious use of the Long Distance Bell Telephone."

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station.

TUBERCULOSIS NOT INHERITED.

Tuberculosis is acquired, not inherited. There can be no tuberculosis without the germ. The commonest method of infection is by breathing dust laden with germs from "spit" or sputum of consumptives floats in the air and is breathed into the lungs. Hence the necessity of destroying all sputum, and of special precautions in coughing and sneezing. Tuberculosis may also be acquired by ingestion, i. e., by swallowing the germs with infected milk and food, and, more rarely, by inoculation through cuts and wounds.

While tuberculosis is not inherited, children, especially babies, are particularly liable to infection from contact with consumptive persons. Such childhood infection may not produce immediate disease and may remain inactive for years, until the boy or girl, weakened by bad environment, dissipation or overwork, loses the normal resisting power, the latent germs become active, and a breakdown with tuberculosis follows.

Because of this, it is the utmost importance to keep the body always strong and resistant.

Luther Burbank Chose Sonoma For His Experimental Farm

Does this mean anything to YOU? It means that Sonoma County offers ideal conditions for the growth of a very wide range of crops. It means that it is a good farming section for YOU. Here is one of the great poultry centers of the world; one of the best early apple, prune, cherry, pear, berry, dry wine, hop, and general farming districts in California. There is plenty of rain to make crops sure.

YOU CAN SEE THIS COUNTRY WITHOUT LEAVING HOME.

We have issued a beautiful illustrated booklet telling of Sonoma County and of the opportunities there for YOU. Send ten cents for this booklet and a sample copy of Sunset Magazine—the one big National Magazine telling of the life and development of the West. Address:

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN.

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry Up a Corn or Callous So
Lifts Off With Fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of Freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callous, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callous loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of Freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callous. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any Freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time. (adv)

SOME HINTS ABOUT FIRELESS COOKERS.

The Woman's Home Companion says: "The fireless cooker has come to stay. Its usefulness is no longer a question, but a fact. It is one of the modern conveniences and, unlike many of them, it does not keep running up bills after it is installed. Buy it, and the cost is ended. It does not get out of repair unless greatly abused. It does save fuel bills and labor. It cooks many things better than they can be cooked in any other way."

"There are many kinds of fireless cookers on the market. In choosing among them one may select the kind best adapted for the particular conditions it is to meet, and the space in the kitchen which it is to occupy. Of course a factory made cooker is best, but anyone who cannot afford to buy one will find it worth while to use a homemade one. A person with only a little mechanical skill, by following the directions which can be procured from the Department of Agriculture at Washington can make a cooker that will fulfill most of the needs."

CHOLERA MOREUS.

This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Enyeart, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME.

Before the lesson at the mission study class the other night the station agent remarked that two elephants had gone over the Wabash that day, and that the car that carried them had two hot boxes.

Now the boys in the class understood right away that the car axles had been insufficiently oiled and the grease in the boxes had caught fire; but one of the girls—

"Why, who'd ever thought that they'd put in foot-warmers for those poor elephants!"

GOVERNOR URGES PROMPT ACTION BY EXEMPTION BOARD

Governor Stanley, in a personal letter to the county exemption boards, is urging diligence, so that the cards of men liable for military service may be in the hands of the Federal authorities by July 7.

In his letter Governor Stanley says: "You have been selected for an honorable and vitally important service. The security of your county depends upon your diligence and efficiency. As you probably know, the celerity of movement on the part of troops in modern warfare is as necessary to success as their valor in battle. The time when these soldiers arrive may prove as important as their conduct in the trenches. I shall not attempt to tell you—it would be impossible—how vitally important it is that this work be done without a moment's delay, in order that these cards may be in the hands of the proper authorities by July 7. An army of many thousands of men awaits the conclusion of your work and will march to battle the instant it is finished. For that reason I urgently request your immediate attention, and the greatest diligence and celerity in the accomplishment of the work in hand."

A great many of those appointed to the boards are declining by wire to serve. Most of these are candidates for county offices.

SOCIALIST PAPER HELD UP BY COURT ORDER.

Through the protests of Cleveland subscribers it became known that the June 16 issue of the Socialist News, published weekly in Cleveland, Ohio, had been barred from the mails at the Cleveland postoffice on the order of William H. Lamar, solicitor of the Federal Postoffice Department, under the drastic provisions of the new espionage law for alleged treasonable utterance.

Pending the final enactment of the espionage act, the issues of May 25 and June 2 had also been withheld from distribution.

IS BUILDING OF MANY HUES

St. Basil's Church in Moscow Constructed With View to Avoiding All Symmetry in Color or Form.

The Kremlin, perhaps the most famous spot in Russia, stands on Kremlin hill, nearly in the center of Moscow. The hill is roughly triangular in shape and nearly a hundred feet high, though it seems even higher, looming above the city. The walls of the Kremlin circle the hill and the golden domes of the churches within may be seen above them from almost any part of the city.

Entering the inclosure through the Sunday gate, you find yourself facing two monster bronze figures of aspect disconcertingly fierce. They are images of the two men who drove the Poles from Moscow 300 years ago, and have been gratefully remembered ever since, although their methods were somewhat crude and merciless, as perhaps befitted their time. The average visitor gives small thought to these two bronze figures, however, for at the end of the square beyond them is one of the most startling bits of building that Europe holds.

This is the church of St. Basil, an amazing mixture of every form and color that the imagination of the architect could evolve. It is hard to call it ugly, and it is certainly not beautiful. Every hue of the rainbow is represented on its walls, though rich reds and golds predominate. Every one of its numerous domes and towers is of a different shape and size from its fellows. It is a sort of architectural nightmare, and yet it is undeniably effective. It is perhaps the only building in the world constructed with a careful view to avoiding all symmetry in color or form.

LAST OF THE CARIB INDIANS

Not More Than One Hundred of Race Which Columbus Found in West Indies Are Still Alive.

The Carib Indian was the first representative of Lo, the poor red man, to meet the tide of European travel. He was the one found by Columbus and the later Spanish explorers in the West Indies, and he has given the Caribbean sea his name. Thus he is assured a monument as long as geography shall last, and he needs it, because as a living race he has practically disappeared.

How many thousands of Caribs dwelt in the West Indies in 1492 is largely a matter of conjecture. They quickly began to die out under the hand of the conqueror, who worked them as slaves and shot them when they made war. Today it is doubtful whether there are 100 pure-blooded Caribs alive. Practically all of them live on the British Isle of Dominica, on a reservation set apart for them called Salybia.

The reservation is very difficult of access, for there is no sheltered harbor or landing place. The only method of approach is by one of the coasting steamers which circle the island. When the steamer gets opposite Salybia with anyone who wants to land aboard, she stops and whistles. If the weather is good and the water smooth enough, a canoe puts out and takes the passenger ashore. If the weather is too rough the passenger must needs content himself to go on around the island and try again on the next round.

Syllables Are Clipped.

But the American does love to save his words! It was in the elevator of a skyscraper the other day that the newest device for clipping syllables was noticed. The lift had just passed the tenth floor when a morose looking man spoke to its conductor. "Three," said he, meaning, of course, the thirteenth. When he had been left at the floor the bearded man grunted out "five," and the chap next him said hurriedly "seven." So they were deposited at the fifteenth and seventeenth floors, respectively, and then the elevator boy spoke to the remaining passenger. "What's yours?" he asked. "Nineteen," returned that gentleman. "Great smoke, it has been so long since I've made a 'teen that I hardly understand what you mean," said the elevator boy, but he stopped at nineteen all right.—Exchange.

Religion of Russia.

Christianity was introduced into Russia in the ninth century. The established church of Russia, to which the great majority of the inhabitants belong, is identical in doctrine with and is a branch of the Greek church. The liturgy used is the same as that originally used by the church at Constantinople, when Constantinople was the capital of the Eastern Roman empire, before the coming of the Turks. This liturgy in the Russian church is, however, not read in Greek, but in the Slavonic language. The official name of the religion in Russia is the Orthodox Catholic faith—the word Catholic being used in its general sense, universal or world-wide. Sixty-six per cent of the Russian people are of this faith, and the census of 1915 showed a population of 182,182,600.

To Know How To Be Ready

To know how to be ready is a great thing. It is a precious faculty that implies forethought, grasp, and decision. To attain it, one must know how to sever, for one cannot untangle everything; one must know how to divide the essential from the minutiae that envelop it; in one word, one must know how to simplify one's duties, one's business, one's life.—Amiel.

BLUE GRASS SEED BRINGING GOOD PRICES.

Bluegrass seed delivered at the house is now being quoted at the handsome price of $1.50 per bushel, according to the seed dealers in Paris, who are now interested in practically nine-tenths of the entire crop.

The present price is the highest that has been reached in the local market since the season of 1911, when the seed brought the top price of $1.70 per bushel, and was in great demand even at that price. Paris now controls three-fourths of the 1917 crop, which is in the hands of Paris dealers.

The crop this season is estimated at about 200,000 bushels, which is less than one-half of the usual production. It is of an excellent quality, having headed out in fine shape, and full of germinating powers. While little of it is likely to be exported, on account of the war, there will be a good demand for home use on the lawns and yards of residences in the country.

WHY NOT INVEST $10 NOW?

And be comfortable the balance of the summer. Our Palm Beaches solve the problem, "How to keep cool?"

J. W. DAVIS & CO.

GARDENER ROBBED.

Some unpatriotic cuss obtained access to the pocket of a coat belonging to Mr. J. D. Price, well-known gardener, while he was at work in his garden Friday, and relieved him of $16 in cash, which he had left in the coat.

Mr. Price regrets the loss of the money, but is unable to understand how any man could be so unprincipled in these times of war as to steal money from a man who is engaged in doing his bit toward relieving the food shortage. Mr. Price left his coat hanging on a fence post while he was tilling the soil, not thinking that his "First National Bank" would be touched for his roll.

JURISTS' WIFE INJURED.

Judge Robert Lee Stout, who has been presiding over the June term of the Bourbon Circuit Court, received a telephone message that his wife, Mrs. Florence Offutt Stout, who has been camping with a party of friends at Tegas, Clay county, had been seriously injured by being thrown from a horse. Judge Stout immediately adjourned Court and left for the scene of the accident.

Late reports from Tegas indicate that Mrs. Stout was not so seriously injured as first reported, but had been considerably shaken up by the fall from her horse.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY'S BIG SUMMER DANCE.

Invitations have been issued by Messrs. John Stuart, Duke Brown and Ireland "Bit" Davis to the premier dance event of the season, Central Kentucky's Big Annual Summer Dance, which will be given in the Masonic Temple, in this city, on the night of Thursday, July 5.

The hours will be from nine to three-thirty, six and one-half hours of genuine enjoyment, punctuated by a thirty-minute intermission for refreshments. The music will be furnished by Smith's Saxophone Orchestra. The committee desires to impress upon prospective visitors and attendants at this dance that Smith's Saxophone Orchestra will positively play this date here, and ask that no attention be paid to reports to the contrary.

THE WEATHER.

The following is the official weather forecast for the week beginning Sunday, July 1, as sent out from the U. S. Weather Bureau at Washington:

For the Ohio Valley and Tennessee: Fair, except occasional thunderstorms and thundershowers. Seasonal temperature.

The temperature for the past three days has been above normal, the mercury ascending rapidly. The high record of 93 degrees marked one day, Saturday. Sunday the torridity was somewhat tempered by cool breezes, which made life more endurable. Early yesterday morning a thunderstorm accompanied by heavy rain, brought with it relief from the heat wave. The rains will be of great benefit to growing crops of all kinds.

WARNING TO AUTOISTS.

The Lexington and Versailles road will be closed to traffic passage this week from the Parker's Mill pike to the Woodford county line to permit repair work. Asphalt is being laid on this portion of the pike and travel was stopped Monday morning, it has been announced. During the closing of this part of the road automobile tourists from Lexington to Versailles and Frankfort should either take the old Frankfort pike by way of the Big Sink road as far as Versailles or the Harrodsburg pike to the Military pike, thence on that thoroughfare to the Fort Garrett pike, which leads into the Versailles pike again. The section of the road will probably be closed during the entire week, it was stated Saturday by Road Engineer Robert W. Davis.

"TANLAC" STIVERS PAYS PARIS VISIT.

Mr. Sherman Stivers, formerly of Paris, was a visitor in Paris Sunday as a guest of friends and relatives. Mr. Stivers has recently been operating in Texas. He says a six-weeks' drouth has about ruined everything in Southern Texas. In Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama there is a monster corn crop coming on. In many sections of these States it has almost taken the place of the old staple cotton. Mr. Stivers left yesterday for London, Ontario, on a business trip for the Tanlac Company.

MERCHANTS ASKED TO CLOSE TO-MORROW.

Through the medium of THE NEWS the merchants of Paris are asked to close their business houses to-morrow, if not for the day, for the afternoon at least, in order that their employees may get the benefit of a holiday.

Many merchants have voluntarily signified their intention of closing for the day, but it is urged that the action be a general one all over the city, and that the opportunity be taken to make the occasion an exhibition of the deep feeling of patriotism that exists in the community at the present time.

This action will not work a hardship upon any merchant in Paris and will be but a proper expression upon their part of the patriotism that is not measured by the standard of dollars and cents.

PLENTY OF PROOF.

From People You Know—From Paris Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Paris, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it: J. W. Larkin, retired farmer, 431 High street, Paris, says: "I am only too glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, because I have at times had quite a bit of trouble with my back. Often, I have had a dreadful ache across my kidneys and the kidney secretions have been too frequent in passage. A box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills at these times have never failed to cure me of an attack."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Larkin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

WIND RESISTANCE.

The problem of wind resistance to a steamship at sea has just been studied in a very exact and careful manner. A miniature model of a 3,000-ton freighter was built in exact proportion and tested against an artificial breeze in a specially built tunnel. It was found that a 30-mile gale exerts a resistance of approximately 3,500 pounds against a steamer of the 3,000-ton size, and that such a wind alone will cut down her speed 5 per cent. When the indirect effects of the wind in raising a rough sea and making it difficult to hold the course are added, the net loss in speed may be as high as 18 or 20 per cent. In a dead calm, the air resistance is responsible for a lowering of the theoretical maximum speed by almost 2 per cent.

HAIG, GENERAL MANAGER OF THE WAR.

In everybody's for June, Isaac F. Marcobson paints Sir Douglas Haig as the man of action and keen insight. The writer paid a visit to England's famous war chief at his headquarters, an old chateau in France. "A tall, lithe, well-knit man with the insignia of a Field Marshal on his shoulder strap," is the description we get. "He is the personification of personal modesty, a deep-seated and sincere aversion to exploitation. He shuns the spotlight. 'I found myself,' he continued, 'in a presence that, even without the slightest clue to its profession, would have unconsciously impressed itself as military. Dignity, distinction and a grave reserve mingle in his bearing. His hair and mustache are fair and his clear, almost steely blue eyes search you, but not unkindly. He stands easily and gracefully, and walks with that rangy, swinging stride so common to men who ride much. In brief, Sir Douglas Haig is the literal impersonation of the phrase every inch a soldier.'

GOODRICH MAN SEES RUSSIAN REVOLUTION.

Some new interesting viewpoints of the world war were disclosed by Victor van der Linde, Goodrich representative who returned from war-ridden Europe, June 19th.

Starting last Christmas, Mr. van der Linde traveled through Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia, doing special technical work for the Goodrich Company. He spent considerable time in Moscow and Petrograd. Mr. van der Linde was in the Russian Capitol when the revolution broke out and witnessed the exciting times attending the abdication of the Czar and the seizing of the Government by the council of soldiers and working men.

"I have great confidence in the new Russian Government doing its share in the struggle against German autocracy," said Mr. van der Linde. "The new Government is determined to stand shoulder to shoulder with England, France and the United States. The soldiers are overanxious to continue the fight. But the dissension has been among the working men engaged in manufacturing munitions of war. The workers are virtually on a general strike for higher wages."

"The American Commission headed by Elihu Root have put new confidence into the Russian people. When the workers return to their shops and supply the soldiers with clothing, food and ammunition, Russia will fight as she never has before in her history."

Before Mr. van der Linde's recent trip, he was associated with the Paris office of the B. F. Goodrich Company. Since the outbreak of the world war, he was in close touch with the Goodrich factory at Colombes, France. "You have no idea," said Mr. van der Linde, "of how impressed the French people are with the United States joining the Allies. They have a tremendous admiration for everything American. France places utmost confidence in the ability of the United States to sway victory to the Allies."

"Even with the help of America," continued Mr. van der Linde, "and a united Russia, it is my opinion the war cannot end under two years time."

CITY KEEPS PENN'S PROMISE

Philadelphia Still Maintains Camping Grounds for Indians If They Care to Visit Metropolis.

Historical Philadelphia we all know, or should know, well, but there are very few who have ever heard of some of the old, out-of-the-ordinary things that go to form quaint Philadelphia.

One scarcely connects Indians with the city nowadays, and yet at this present time if a tribe of Indians should care to visit Philadelphia they would find two camping grounds awaiting them in the very heart of the city. One lies between Broad and Juniper streets, in the rear of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, while the other one is down on Second street. Years ago, when Penn made his treaty with the Indians, he promised them that a place would be kept for them and their descendants forever, where they could camp when they came to Philadelphia; and while these plots of ground are not large, yet they still stand there in fulfillment of Penn's promise.

The old shot tower down on Second street belongs, too, to Quaint Philadelphia. It dates back to the early days of the republic. In those days there were none of our up-to-date methods for making shot round, and the method then employed was to drop the melted metal from a height into water, thus forming it into round balls or shot.

ARE YOU WORTHY OF TRUST?

Let Us First Be Sure That We Deserve Confidence Before We Demand It, Urges Writer.

People resent an insinuation that they are not to be trusted, in general, or with a particular duty. Do we not look within in impartial judgment to see whether we really merit trust? Are we sufficiently competent to undertake the task in question? Are we wise enough to inform ourselves of matters wherein we find ourselves ignorant? Are we clear-sighted enough to estimate rightly men and affairs? Are we giving single-hearted service to our fellow man?

Let us first be worthy of trust before we demand it, says a writer in the Milwaukee Journal. It is a poor satisfaction to gain trust to which we know ourselves not entitled. Let our first effort be to deserve trust; then whether it is bestowed on us or not will be of second consideration. MacDonald said: "To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved." Yet trust is the foundation of love. It is well to be slow in bestowing trust. Let time prove its worth. Once you find the man whom you may implicitly trust, treasure him closely. There is an old saying, "Eat a peck of salt with a man before you trust him."

Advice for Husbands.

Most words of wisdom that fall from the pens of experts on the subject of love are written for women. Apparently these little sermons are written with the idea that only man's love is worth keeping and that woman's cannot possibly last.

We are told that man must never be bored by trifling domesticities, but instead be encouraged to talk about his business, and so on. Why should it be addressed to one sex only?

Why not say to husbands: Remember that women are women and that their great need is for love. Love is their vocation, the thing they do best, their greatest need in life. Why should the wife be expected to listen admiringly to the husband's tale of routing of a commercial rival when he does not show an equal courtesy when she describes her experiences of the day?—San Francisco Chronicle.

Solving a Golf Problem.

It was the office of the great sporting paper, and the golf editor was taking a holiday. In his absence the inquiries from readers which the golfing man answered through his correspondence column were handed to the racing editor.

"Which is the better course," asked an ardent follower of the royal and ancient game, "to fuzzle one's putt or to fether on the tee?"

The turfman tilted back in his chair and smoked five cigarettes before taking his pen in hand. Then, when he had come to a decision on the weighty problem, he wrote as follows:

"Should a player snuggle his iron, it is permissible for him to fuzzle his putt; but a better plan would be to drop his guppy into the pringle and snoodle it out with a niblick."

Wedding Cake of Ancient Origin.

The wedding cake is of ancient origin. In its earliest form it was nothing more than a small cake of wheat or barley. Half of this was eaten by the bride and half by the bridegroom, as a token that they were joined together for life. The wedding ring, a symbol of everlasting love, is derived from a heathen source. The giving of an engagement ring also dates back many centuries, for in the time of the Roman empire the lover always sent his beloved a ring as a pledge, but the young lady had then to be contented with a ring of iron, without a stone of any kind.

An Optimist.

"Smitherton certainly is a man who makes the best of things."

"What has he been doing to deserve such praise?"

"His wife went away for a week and on the very day she left he sprained his ankle, so that he was confined at home during all the time she was gone, yet he seems to think it is a fairly good old world."—Judge.

HOMEMADE WASHING MACHINE

Miners in Alaska Construct Ingenious Device to Take the Place of Washboard and Tub.

In parts of Alaska many of the miners do their own housekeeping and laundering. To accomplish the latter they use as a substitute for the washboard and tub a device made of an old barrel-churn mounted on runners so that the miner can take it along to his work.

A cylinder about 30 inches long and of the same diameter as the head of the churn is first constructed of heavy galvanized iron. One end of this cylinder is left open, and the head of the churn is fastened to the open end. The cylinder is then carefully balanced in the churn, and the churn-bearings fastened with rivets and solder to make them water-tight.

Two screens are made of galvanized wire of one-inch mesh. One of them is suspended from the movable head by one-quarter-inch galvanized iron rods, and the other is fastened to the cylinder, so that the two are about ten inches apart in the middle of the cylinder.

The clothes are confined between the two screens. The water surges back and forth through them until they are clean, or as long as the churn is in motion. A large pinwheel attached to the bearings furnishes the turning power.

MOON'S EFFECTS NOT KNOWN

May Be Key to Sleep Walking and Kindred Disorders, Declares Writer in Medical Journal.

All persons in all times have seen an intimate connection between the moon and fruitfulness, both animal and vegetable.

"Even now," says the New York Medical Journal, "the onions which come to our city market owe their excellence to the farmer's careful conjunction of planting time with the phases of the moon."

Such ideas have been so universal that man's unconscious mind still preserves them, though his judgment may scorn them as absurd.

Doctor Sadger of Vienna cites cases of somnambulists who "under the influence of moonlight are recalled to times and scenes of active childish wishes. The moon calls them in deep sleep to act out dream wishes."

The Medical Journal suggests that the key to sleep walking and other kindred disorders of childhood and late life may be found in moon-lore.

Costly Living.

Most of the high cost of living comes from buying things we don't need. If it wasn't for that we would all live off the fat of the land, and the rich and well-to-do would have enough left to help other people and boost the uplift of the city. If all the money that society throws away on idle pleasures and needless things were redistributed equitably among the people, everybody would be living on lamb chops, lima beans and pound cake; and the reflex action of such a situation would compensate the well-off for the loss of their joyless pleasures. But the old ideal of the university seems still to influence the people—"never to vex at the land's ridiculous misuse." It wouldn't cost a cent to have it otherwise, as long as our money goes into pleasures and trifles. But take each individual life and cut off the foolish and needless things, and such a one would occupy the proud eminence of a champion of nobler things.—Ohio State Journal.

Here's Your Hat, Stay Awhile.

It is the Nunc Dimittis—the art of the peaceful departure. To know when to go, and how to let go after "mine eyes have seen"—yes, that is a fine art, indeed. Learn the art of terminal facility and save a world of apologies and regrets afterward. Learn not to linger over anything—even a telephone. Long conversations, long explanations, long letters, long farewells, long prayers in public, sermons or speeches, and long-spun-out stories—pray avoid them. Come to the point on time. Depart gracefully. Peace will then pursue you. Leave a wish and longing because you have gone. Learn to let go of little things today and you will be ready to decide quickly at tomorrow's crisis, and to depart in peace.—Christian Advocate.

Turtle Fishing Chief Industry.

Grand Cayman is one of the out-of-the-way islands of the West Indies, a small and isolated outpost of the British empire. It is the island nearest to the Central American coast among those of any size. As a result of this proximity, the leading industries of the island are turtle fishing and coconut shipping, both of which products come from the Mosquito coast of Honduras and Nicaragua. Grand Cayman is a base of operations, a half-way station in the trade. The island has an atmosphere of prosperous leisure, because all this work is done away from home.

Reformed Churches in United States.

Of the four reformed denominations in the United States, the Reformed church in America (Dutch Reformed) is the oldest; it has more than 700 churches. The Reformed church in the United States (German Reformed) is the largest, with about 1,800 churches. The Hungarian Reformed church, organized in 1804, is the youngest; it has 74 churches. The Christian Reformed church in North America is third in age and size. It has 231 churches and 38,000 members.

WAR COSTLY NOW

Artillery Expense of Modern Army Corps $820,000 a Day.

Outlay in Gun Metal and Powder is Heavy and Vast Amount of Material Is Required for the Trenches.

When it is remembered that there are today under arms more than 24,000,000 soldiers in the European war, the immensity of the task of keeping them supplied with the munitions with which they wage war will appear. It has been estimated that it costs approximately $100 to outfit a soldier. Of this $25 goes for a gun and $35 for his 1,000 rounds of cartridges. The average life of a uniform under modern service conditions is very short; that of the ordinary rifle is six months. In all of the history of war there never has been such a rapid exhaustion of all of the materials with which it is made, says the National Geographic Society Bulletin.

A 75-centimeter gun can fire about 400 projectiles a day. Each of these projectiles costs approximately $6. Counting this and the depreciation of the gun, which is particularly rapid, the daily outlay for its operation amounts to $2,700. It is estimated that the 120 75-centimeter cannon in an army corps, fired all day, cost in munitions and depreciation $320,000. In addition to this, each army corps has about forty pieces of heavy artillery. Explosives and depreciation for a single day's work for them totals $500,000, making the total artillery expense of an army corps $820,000 a day.

If the outlay in gun metal and powder is heavy, it is no more so than the outlay for materials demanded by the present necessities of trench warfare. An officer who has studied this phase of the present war carefully says that to put a trench in a state fit for occupation in winter requires 1,250,000 running feet of 3 by 3 timber, 38,000 running feet of corrugated iron, 6,250,000 sandbags weighing 1,000 tons and 24,000 standards and pickets to the mile. In addition to this, 900 miles of barbed wire has to be used, weighing 110 tons. When one stops to recall the hundreds of miles of trenches which stretch across Europe in different directions and how often sections of these trenches have to be rebuilt, he can gain some idea of the tremendous amount of material required in their outfitting.

Another picture of the vastness of the munitioning trade and the immensity of the task of keeping the armies in the field and in fighting condition may be had from the statement that there are now more than 4,000 controlled munition plants in Great Britain alone. Of these 19 out of 20 never produced war materials before the war broke out. They employ nearly 3,000,000 men and nearly 750,000 women. The vastness of the industry in England is not out of proportion to that in France. Although Germany holds 70 per cent of France's coal and some 80 per cent of its iron, France has been able, by the opening up of new furnaces and by immense importations of ore and pig metal, largely to overcome this handicap.

"The Grape of Brazil."

A notable feature of gardens within a certain area about Rio de Janeiro is the jaboticaba tree. The delicious fruit is often known as "the grape of Brazil" on account of its appearance, and, as described in a bulletin of the United States department of agriculture, is conspicuous from its peculiar habit of growing directly upon the bark, not only of the small limbs but even of the trunk and exposed roots. The tree, growing to a height of 35 to 40 feet, branches freely close to the ground, spreading into a symmetrical leafy top of great beauty. The flowers, produced singly and in clusters, often cover the entire bark above the ground. The fruit develops rapidly to a diameter of half an inch to an inch and a half, has a deep maroon-purple color, is covered with a thick, rather tough skin charged with coloring matter and much tannin, and contains the translucent juicy pulp, having an agreeable vinous flavor suggestive of the Muscatine grape. One to four flattened oval seeds, a quarter of an inch long, are inclosed in this pulp. The fruit tempts one to eat indefinitely, the complaint being that it is impossible to satisfy one's appetite on jaboticabas.

Queer Sort of Butter.

A queer sort of butter is obtained in Trinidad, where cows and cream are scarce. This butter is the boiled-down fat of a bird called the guacharo. The Illustrated World says that this bird lives in the darkest caves, and seldom is seen in the daylight. The young birds are extremely plump and from them is obtained rich fat, the natives' very good substitute for butter. The birds are taken from their nests when two or three weeks old. After they are killed, they are put on to boil, not in water, but in their own fat. The natives experience some difficulty in getting at the nests of the guacharo, for they must creep through caves and wade through stagnant pools to reach their prey. The full-grown guacharo is so timid that no one ever has been able to photograph a living specimen.

NEVER TOO LATE TO BEGIN

There is No Past So Black or So Bitter That It Cannot Be Redeemed, Declares Writer.

Take heart and begin again. As Kipling says, "there is for you nothing irremediable, nothing ineffaceable, nothing irreconcilable in anything you may have said or thought or done." There is no past so black or so bitter that it cannot be redeemed. "Though thy sins are as scarlet they shall be made whiter than snow."

There is no better time to have a mental house cleaning than now, writes Dr. Orison Sweet Marden in the Nautilus. It is a good time to get rid of the rubbish that has so long been a handicap. Don't pull along with you through the door of the present all the miserable black, painful things which worried you, marred your success and your happiness in the past. Shut all of these horrid ghosts out behind the closed door of your past life. Take across the threshold of the new day only those things that can help you, the friends of your success and your happiness; take only the pleasant memories, the helpful thoughts and suggestions with you. Leave all the others behind. Bury all your skeletons so deep that they can never come to live with you again.

Say to them: "You miserable devils, you have dogged my steps, hindered my progress, destroyed my peace of mind, and strangled my efficiency long enough. I will have nothing more to do with you. I am God's child, and I was not made to be hounded by these enemies who are trying to thwart my ambition and to dwarf my career by devitalizing me, and then cutting down my efficiency."

WORLD FULL OF COMPLAINERS

Some Wail About Ill Health, Many About Ill Fortune, but Most of All About Ill Luck.

The world is full of complainers. Some complain of ill health, many of ill fortune and most of all of ill luck.

A pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck. It is not a perfect world. Who is well every day throughout the year without an ache, a pain or a cough?

Who is perfect in physique, in temper, in deed and word and conscience?

What man or woman is without a weakness or reason at times for misgivings or cause at times for repentance?

It is a world of foibles, fads and fanatics. If we were all perfect, the preachers would be needless. Heaven would be on earth.

There is comfort in the thought that the striking differences we find among men and women make the world attractive. If all were alike, the monotony would be unbearable.

Think of these things when you feel like repenting over ill health, ill fortune, ill treatment or ill luck.

Misery loves company and there are always "others."—Leslie's.

Insuring the Apple Crop.

Of late years scientific attempts have been made to insure the apple crop. Formerly apple growing was a sort of gamble. Perhaps Jack Frost might slip down from the hills into an orchard, some spring night, when the trees were in bloom, and with a touch of his icy fingers, blast the entire crop. Even if he passed up the opportunity of freezing the incipient crop the worms and bugs and various diseases got in their work. All the way through apple growing was more or less of a gamble. Not so today. The apple producer provides himself with smudge pots filled with oil, and when the temperature drops to the freezing point in spring time the grower lights the heaters and maintains a safe temperature. Then at the proper time he goes forth with a spraying apparatus and wards off the danger and damage of a myriad host of creeping, crawling, flying stinging insects and some tree diseases as well.

Lesse-Majesty.

Lesse-majesty, in jurisprudence signifies any crime committed against the sovereign power in a state. Among the Romans "crimen laesae majestatis" denoted a charge brought against a citizen for acts of rebellion, usurpation of office, or general misdemeanors of a political character, which were comprehended under the title of offenses against the majesty of the Roman people. In the reign of Tiberius, according to Suetonius, it was lese-majesty to flog a slave or to change one's clothes in the presence of any image of the emperor. Germany gives the law very vigorous force in all criticisms of the emperor's official acts. In the United States this form of treason is without constitutional recognition (Constitution of the United States, Article III, Section III).

Music Language of Soul.

The meaning of music goes deep. It is the universal language of the soul. Where speech fails, song is only beginning. Music can make men's hearts as steel in the face of battle, when thousands are to be stricken down and trampled into the earth, or it can melt these same hearts to tender love and make them tremble at a sweet-heart's whisper. Music can cleanse the soul for worship, or it can deprave for the vilest orgies. It uplifts, and it debases; it inspires to the high, the sweet, the true, and it deadens to the gross and low, the vicious and the heartless. Freedom and love and fidelity and praise—words that illumine all language—would be meaningless and dead but for the spirit instilled into them by song.—Exchange.

VACATION STYLES FOR YOUNG FOLKS

SAILOR SUITS, MILITARY SUITS AND OVERALLS THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

GINGHAM A LEADING FABRIC.

NEW YORK, July 2, 1917.

Last days of school, then vacation! All the girls and boys are looking forward to their freedom, while practical mother is planning what these children of hers will need for the country, the seashore or the mountains, wherever vacation will be spent.

Overalls.

This might almost be called an age of overalls, for with gardens, defense leagues, girl and boy scouts and the hundred and one other activities which are calling girls and boys this summer, overalls fill a practical requirement. Do not make the mistake of thinking that the overalls boys wear and the overalls girls wear are the same! Oh, no. Girls' overalls are made rather full and bloomer-like, some of them have blouses attached and are large enough to put over an entire frock if required to do so. Of course, khaki is the material considered the most desirable for these garments whether for boys or girls, but very often gingham and galatea are used when the boys are small and when the girls wear them in the house.

Embroidered Gingham Frock

I saw a very cunning and practical overall apron to-day made of rubberized cloth and covered with serviceable blue and white gingham. It consisted of full romper-like bloomers and a bib with straps which crossed over the shoulders and buttoned to the bloomers in the back. The back of the bloomers and the lower edges were felled on elastic. This is to be pulled on over the small girl's or boy's clothes to keep them dry when playing on the beach. I thought to myself that it would make a splendid soap-bubble apron.

In the accompanying illustration is shown a small boy attired in practical overalls. He looks ready for weeding his garden, for fishing or doing any of the other duties of life.

Overalls are not the only thing the young folks wear this summer, even though I have mentioned them first. For little boys are suits of military cut, made of galatea, linen, chambray and khaki. Trimly cut like the coat of a uniform, the little coat boasts of two breast pockets, with laps, two side pockets, and a belt. The trousers are, of course, short. Sailor suits, which small boys not connected with the navy often look upon with disfavor, have become very popular with the younger generation this season. If one is too young to be a member of the navy he need not to be too young to look as though he did. White linen and navy-blue serge are the materials for this type of suit.

Coats, even for very little boys, have a decided tendency toward the military, either in cut, trimming or color. Covert, in shades varying from gray to brown and having brass buttons, is very popular just now.

A great deal of crepe de Chine is being used for children's frocks and even rompers this year. It is a material which launders well and is cool and dainty in appearance.

Although gingham as a material has been devoted to children these many years, it seems as though the use of it among the grown-ups has given it a stimulus in children's clothes. There never has been a season where there have been prettier gingham frocks for children than at the present time. Yellow, green and pink plain gingham are made up of themselves or are combined with plaids, checks and stripes in which one or the other of the colors is a part of the color scheme. Yellow is especially popular. It is often embroidered with shades of brown, old rose and green, or with blue or some other contrasting but harmonious color.

The charming little dress shown in the sketch is made of yellow gingham and trimmed with a doubled organ-die collar and embroidered in coral-pink, brown, green and black.

Embroidery on Children's Frocks.

Children's dresses are trimmed with a great deal of hand embroidery. Wool is so effective that it remains popular even for summer clothes, but many people have preferred to use mercerized cotton or silk in its place. When embroidery is spoken of, it is not necessary to think of anything that will take a great deal of time, for the modern embroidery is very simple indeed. The darning-stitch is a great favorite and is used to give the effect of shadow embroidery; the lazy-daisy-stitch is quickly and easily done and is effective in coarse wool or cotton. Braiding is very fashionable. Sometimes braiding designs are stitched with coarse thread on the upper or lower part of the machine, which every woman considers easiest, and is wonderfully attractive. I saw a charming little frock of lawn not long ago with a lattice-work design around the bottom, the lower edge of sleeves and on the front. A spray of flowers running through the lattice was worked by hand, but the lattice itself was done with machine-stitching.

Cross-stitch is a wonderfully effective embellishment to children's frocks and is very easily and quickly done.

THE TRAFFIC STANDARDS.

Modern traffic conditions call imperatively for strict regulations in cities of all sizes. The fact that one of Paris' leading business streets is a part of the road between Maysville and Louisville, a part of the interstate Jackson Highway makes the increase of automobile travel through the city a matter of certainty. Motorists who are not members of the community through which they are driving often forget to observe at home. The traffic regulations will contribute toward securing a proper regard for safety and courtesy upon the part of transients.

Paris has not persecuted motorists, as some of the Kentucky cities and towns have, and it will not do so. The city should be seen by, and will interest all tourists who traverse Kentucky. No tour of Kentucky should be considered complete without a visit to Paris, and a hearty Kentucky welcome should be extended to all visitors here. But everyone, resident and visitor alike, should be obliged to obey reasonable regulations to insure safety and convenience.

SOUR STOMACH.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.

LAMPTON WILL PROBATED

The will of Colonel W. J. Lampton, who died recently in New York, was probated in the county court at Winchester. The will was in the testator's handwriting and under date of July 23, 1906. Witnesses to the instrument were A. H. Hampton and James W. Poynter. By the will, the estate, consisting of two houses and lots on Hickman street, in Winchester, together with various sums of money deposited in different institutions, and life insurance, is left to his sister, Mrs. Nannie L. Simpson, in trust for the niece of the deceased, Miss Florence Simpson. At Simpson qualified as administrator of the estate in the sum of $70,000 with A. H. Hampton and J. D. Simpson as sureties.

—The fourth annual Chautauqua of Millersburg opened Sunday morning in the big Chautauqua tent in the park with a sermon by M. D. Adams, president of Georgetown College. Dr. Adams is a man who is well known here, and most of our people knew what to expect, and were not disappointed. His address was full of food for thought, and an effort equal to any we have had this summer. The music was furnished by the choirs of the various churches. The Chautauqua proper opened at 3 p. m., Sunday. It was a red letter day in Chautauqua life in Millersburg.

appointed hour the large tent with a seating capacity of 700 was more than full. The schedule of the afternoon was furnished by a quartette, the Castle Square Entertainers, which made a good opening and put the entire audience in a good frame of mind for the masterpiece that was to follow. About 3:45 Hon. William Jennings Bryan took his place on the platform, and was briefly introduced to the large audience by the platform manager, Mr. Foster. Mr. Bryan was at his best, and after taking a little time in explaining some of the things necessary in this war launched into the subject of the hour, "What Constitutes a Man," dwelling entirely upon man's threefold nature, laying special stress upon his spiritual nature. All who heard him enjoyed his address and regretted exceedingly that he could not be with us in the evening. In the evening beginning at 7:30 we were again entertained with the Castle Square Entertainers, which was followed by a brilliant lecture by Ernest J. Sias.

WIND AND LIGHTNING WRECK
WRECK AND RUIN.

Wreck and ruin followed in the wake of a storm of wind and lightning which passed over a portion of the county last week.

The high wind blew down a large tobacco barn on the farm of Mr. Chas. LaRue, near Shawhan, involving a property loss estimated at about $2,000. A falling tree killed a cow belonging to Mr. Morton Mann, on the same place. Trees were prostrated by the force of the storm, and telephone poles blown across pikes in the vicinity, rendering them impassable for a time. Lightning struck and killed a valuable horse belonging to Mr. J. B. Smith, of East Paris. A barn on the farm of Mr. Jos. Farris, near Millersburg, was struck by a bolt of lightning and set on fire. The fire was extinguished before any considerable damage had been done.

L. & N. AND WESTERN UNION
ORDERED TO MAKE UP.

In the interest of military necessities, Secretary of War Baker has demanded of the L. & N. railway and the Western Union Telegraph Company that they settle their differences over the location of telegraph poles along the railway right of way. Otherwise, he intimated, the telegraph line in question will be taken over and operated by the government in such a way as to make private interference impossible. Reports had reached the secretary that railway officials had ordered workmen to chop down poles encroaching on the right of way.

Right now would be a good time for Villa to put his bandits to farming, just to show that they can raise something else besides—whiskers.

PARIS PASTORS PREACH PATRIOTISM PERSONIFIED.

Patriotism was preached at every church service held in Paris, Sunday. In accordance with the proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson asking that the day be set aside as "Patriotic Sunday," Paris ministers spoke to their congregations on the love of country, and their opportunities for helping the country in its time of peril. At some of the churches special music was rendered for the occasion, in addition to the patriotic sermons by the pastors.

HINT FOR FIRST-AID-TO-INJURED CLASSES.

The latest development in war surgery is the use of pure soap on bandages. This method is proving very successful, and is one worthy remembering in household first aid. The only kind of soap used is the perfectly pure white variety. The bandage is dipped in a thick lather and squeezed out. Then the damp cake of soap is rubbed across its face before it is applied. It is said that the soap has an excellent effect on the wound, and prevents the bandage from sticking when it is removed.
